Business is scattered

Companies today rarely have too few digital tools. They have too many, but they aren't connected. Business information is scattered across emails, Excel spreadsheets, local folders, cloud services, calendars, messages, mobile phones, various apps and employees' heads.

- Too many tools
- Disconnected data
- Multiple versions of the same data
- No single, current view of the business

Each individual part may work, but the business as a whole has no single place that shows the complete, up-to-date picture.

POZITRON

POZITRON

From scattered to connected

Pozitron connects people, data, tasks and automation.

Scattered

Connected

CLEAR • CONNECTED • IN CONTROL

Everything stays where it is — connected, tracked and organized.

IN3BIT

From Pozitron CRM to XRM

CRM manages customer relationships, while XRM connects people, data, processes and everything that matters to the business.

CRM

Customer Relationship Management

- Focused on sales and clients
- Contacts, leads, opportunities
- One part of the business

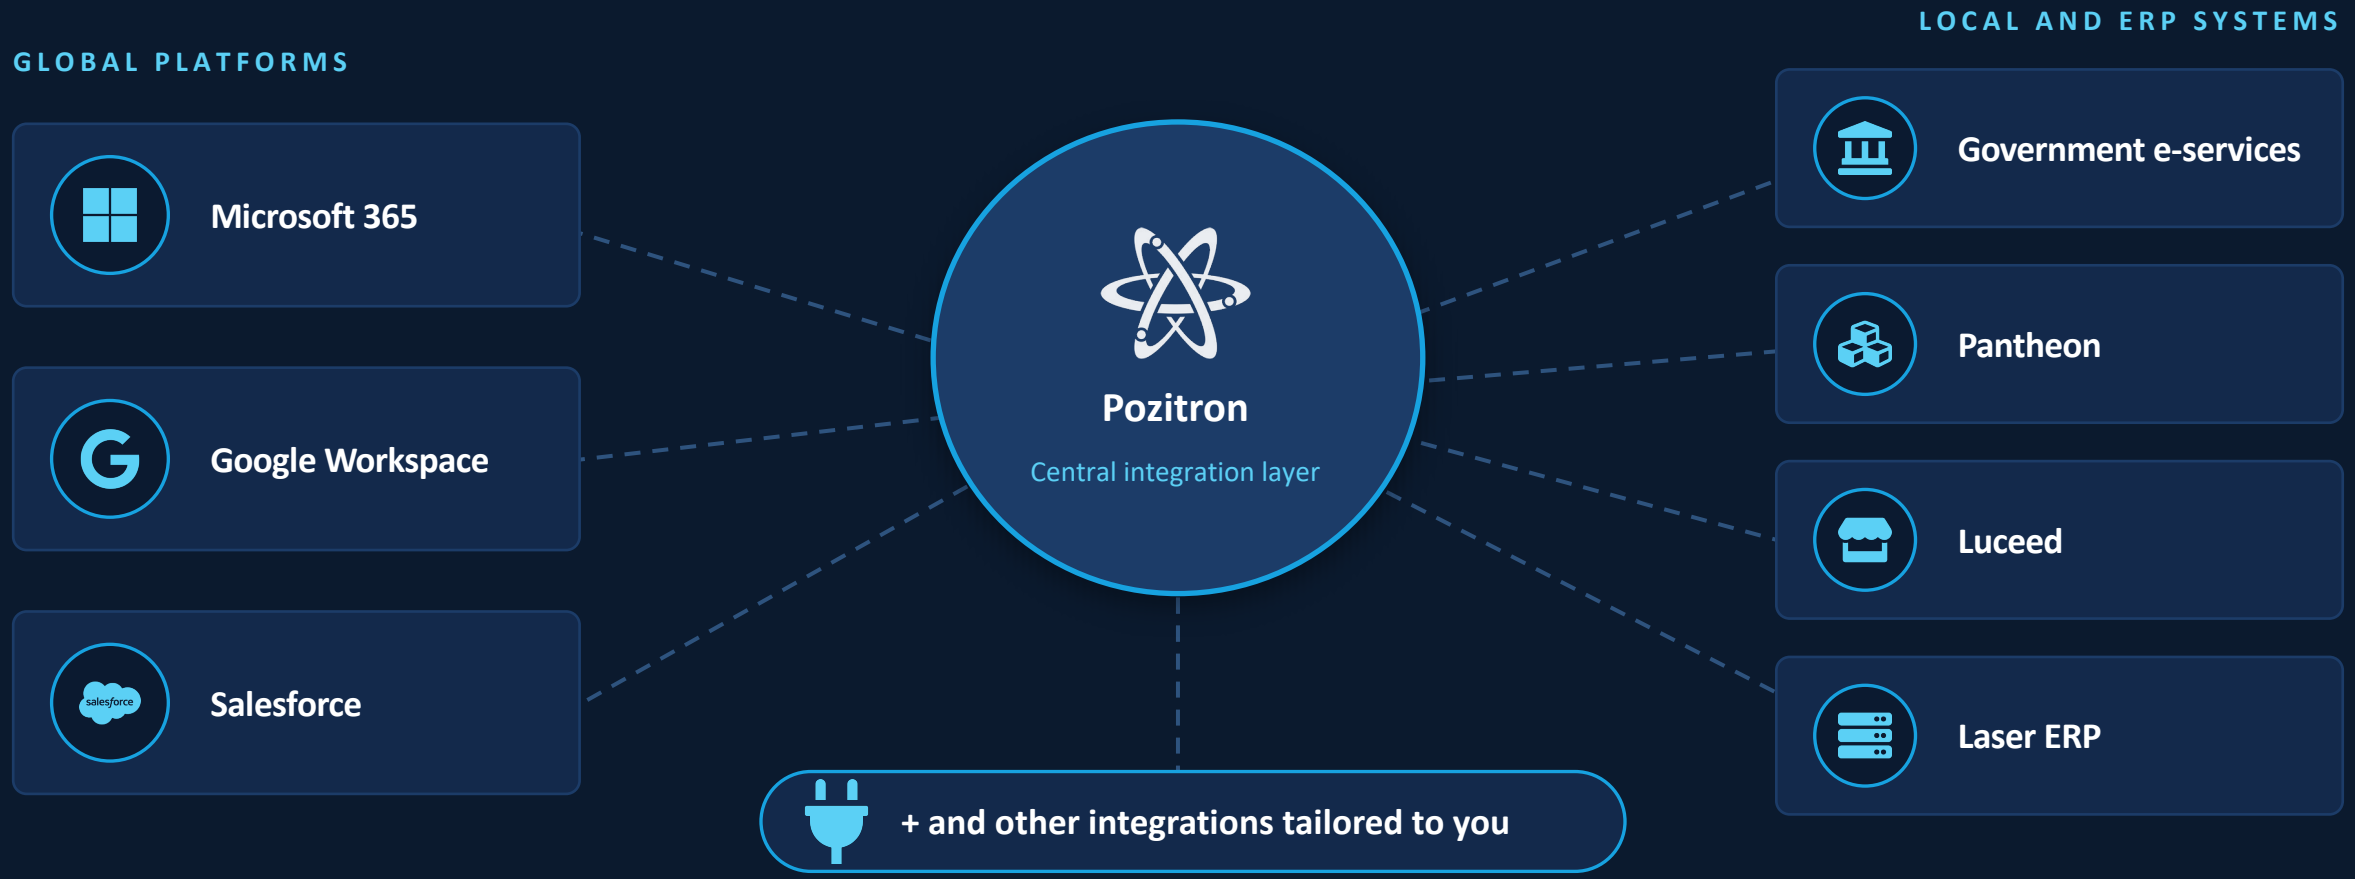

XRM

Extended Relationship Management

- Focused on team and member relationships
- Data integrations, collaboration and workflows
- Entire organization, connected and automated

Integration with your existing systems

Pozitron doesn’t have to replace what already works well. It becomes the central layer that connects your tools and turns scattered data into a single place for overview, control and management.

Contacts and relationships

All clients, people and their relationships in one place.

A shared address book, full cooperation history and links between companies, people, suppliers, agents and other partners.

Integrations

Connect what you already use.

Microsoft 365, Google Workspace, ERP systems, existing apps and databases, external services and APIs work as one business system.

Linking email messages

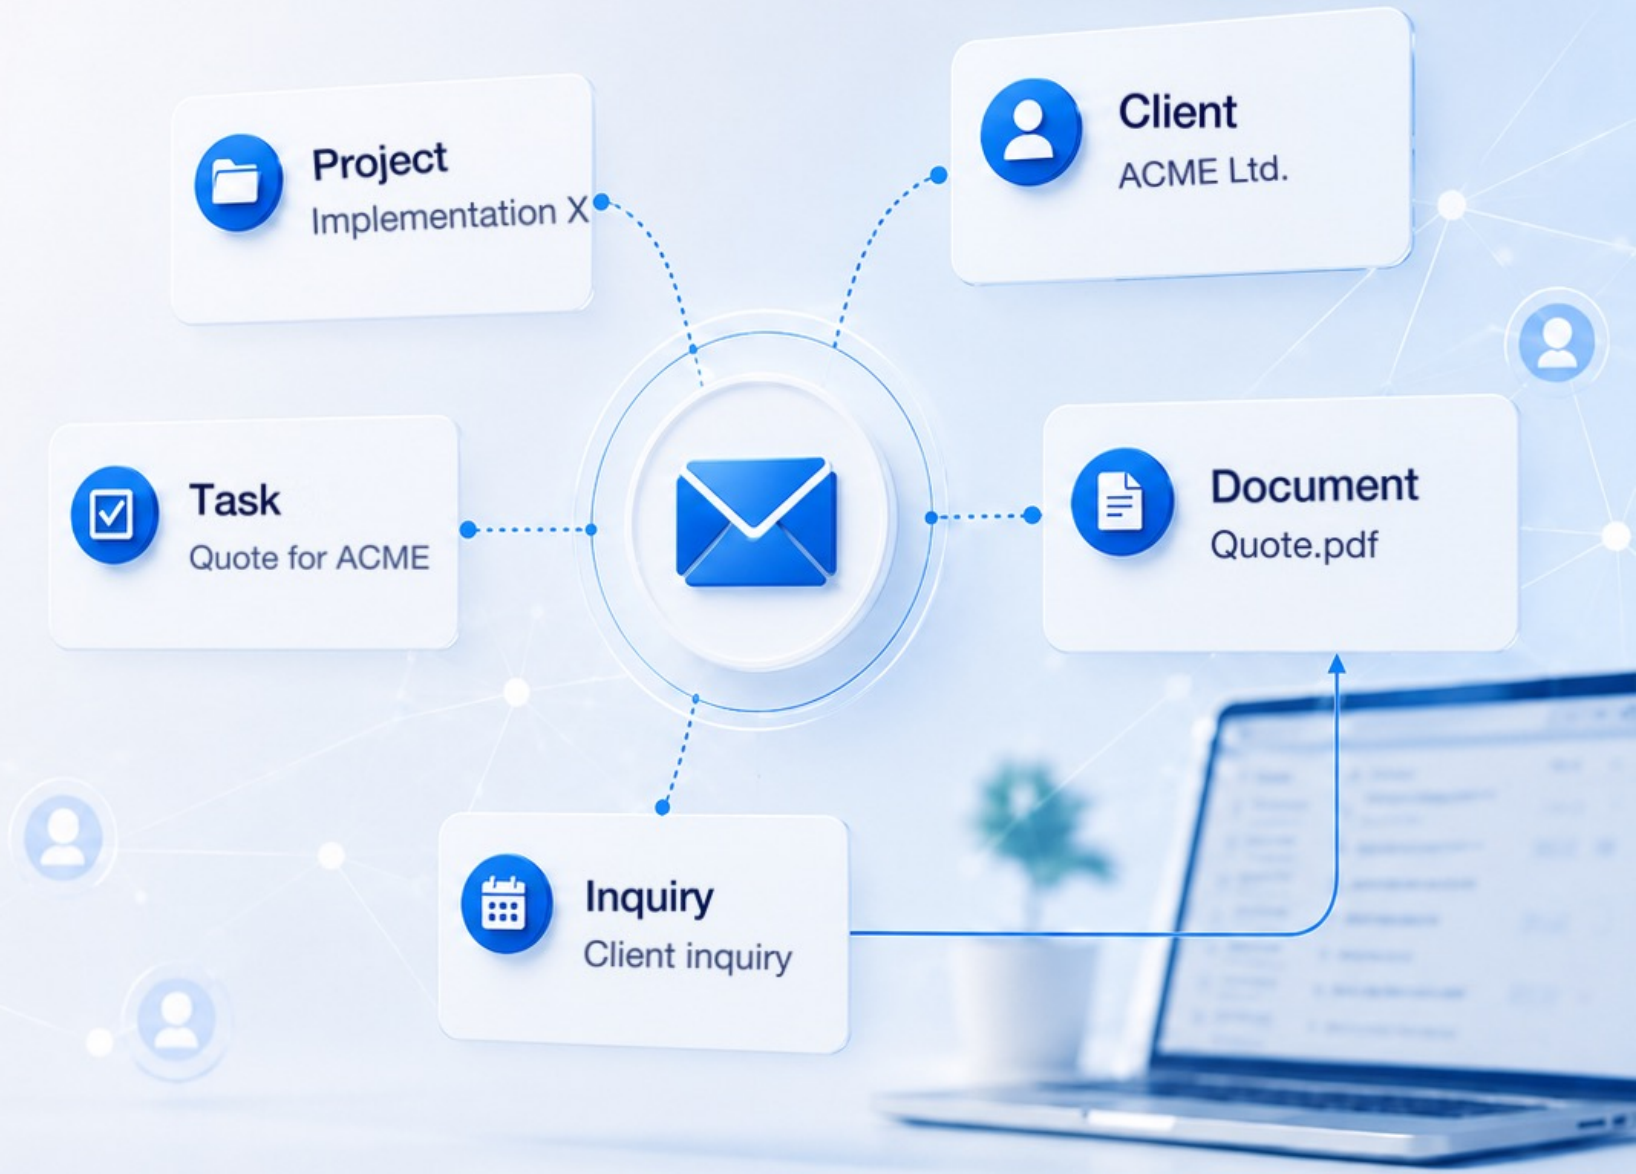

Email stops being an isolated message in someone’s inbox

Messages are linked to a client, activity, task, project or other business record, so authorized colleagues see the context right away.

Files and documentation

Every document gets a place, context, status and access rules

For every file, Pozitron knows where it is, what it belongs to and who may access it. A document can “come to life” through status tracking, responsibilities and linked activities.

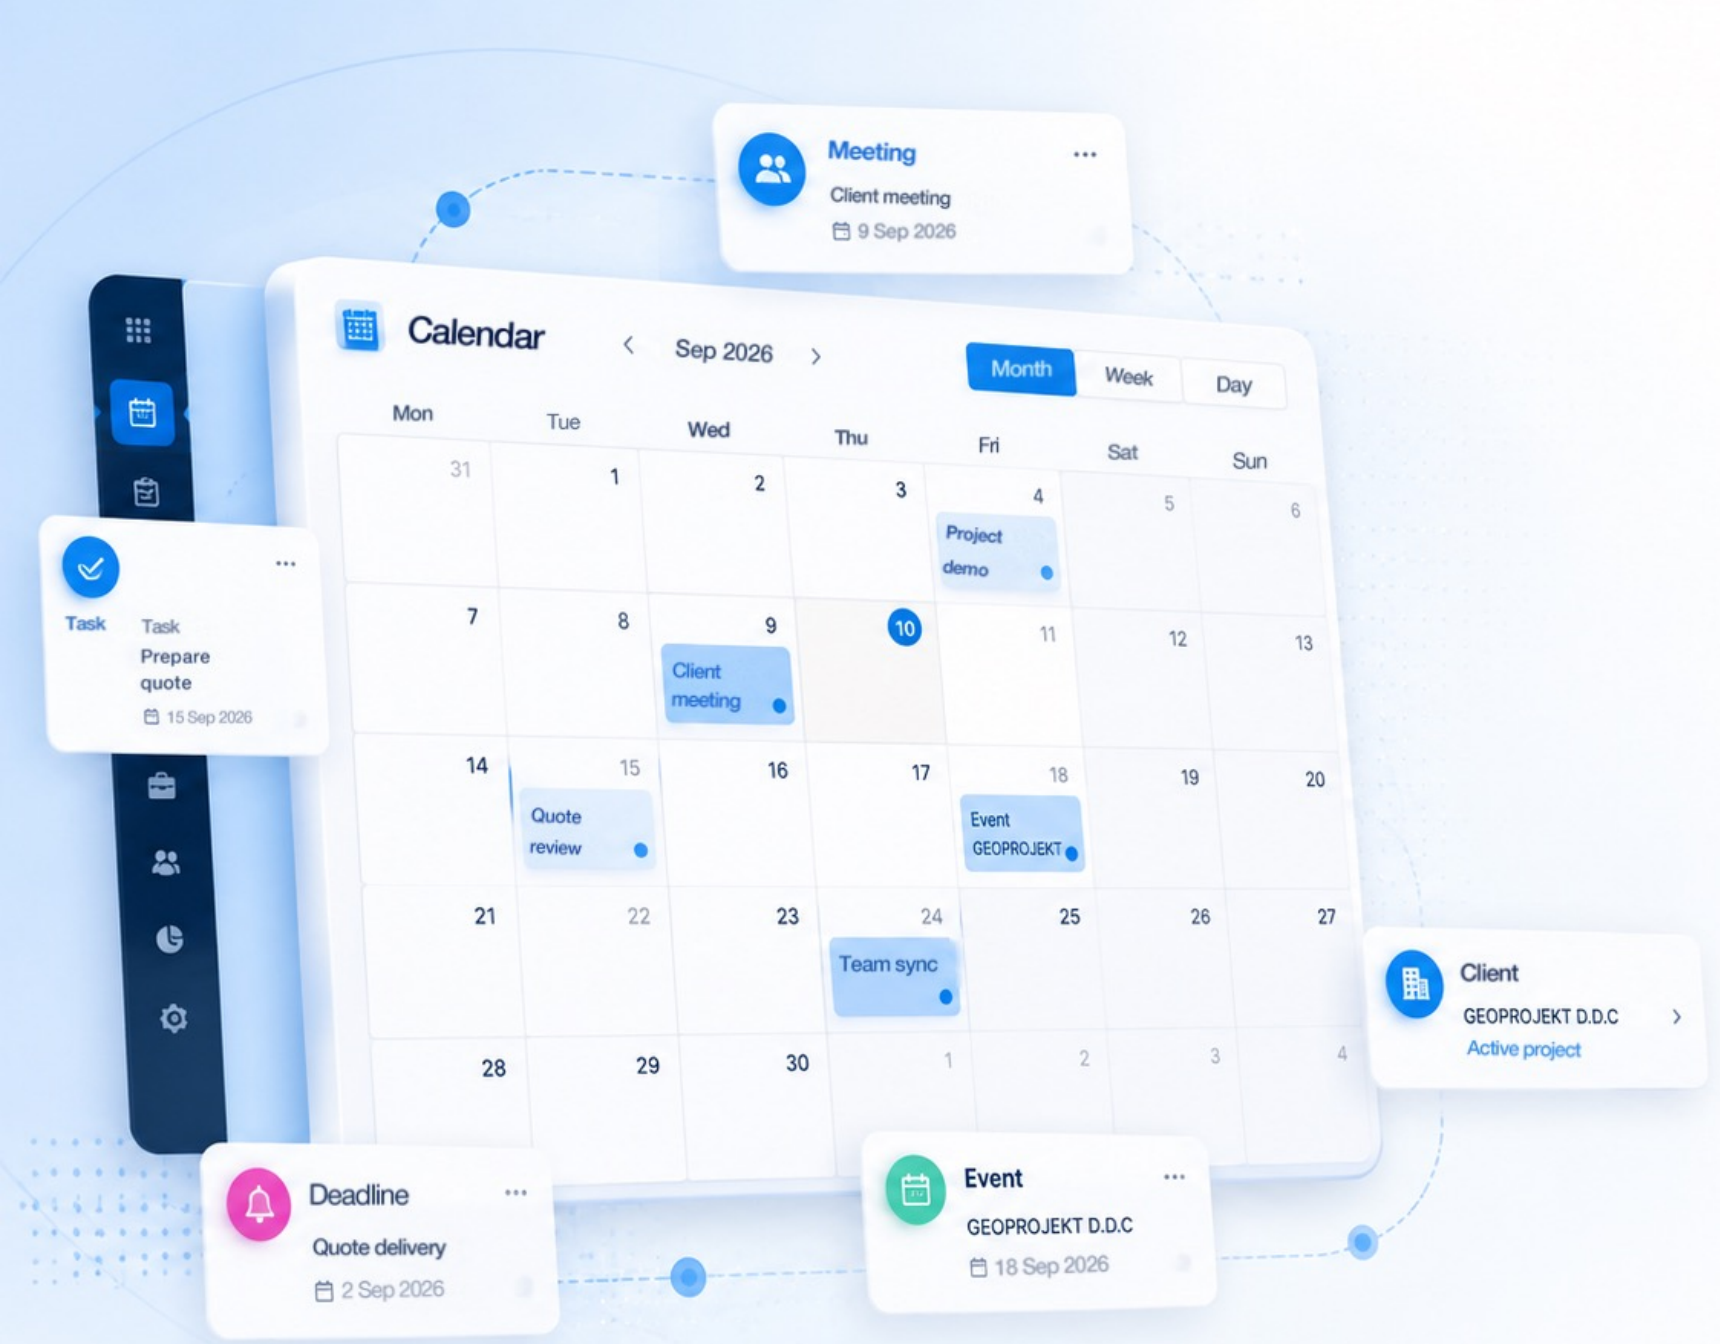

Tasks and delegation

Everything that needs doing, organized by deadlines, statuses and reminders.

Tasks connect employees, departments, clients, documents and projects. Assign work to a person or a whole department and track acceptance, handovers and progress.

Pozitron tracks deadlines and statuses, and reminders make sure nothing gets forgotten.

Inquiries and complaints

From receipt to resolution, clear and fully tracked

Inquiries and complaints move through statuses, link to clients, communication, documents and tasks, and can turn into new business activities.

Calendar and meetings

Commitments, deadlines and agreements in a real business context

Meetings, tasks, events and deadlines are shown linked to clients, projects and activities, so it is always clear what comes next and where it belongs.

Operations and resources

Pozitron links the office to what really happens in the business

Items, stock, purchase orders, goods receipts, delivery notes, assets, service and QR, tracked in one connected system or across several.

TSP Dashboard

From business data to a clear picture of the business.

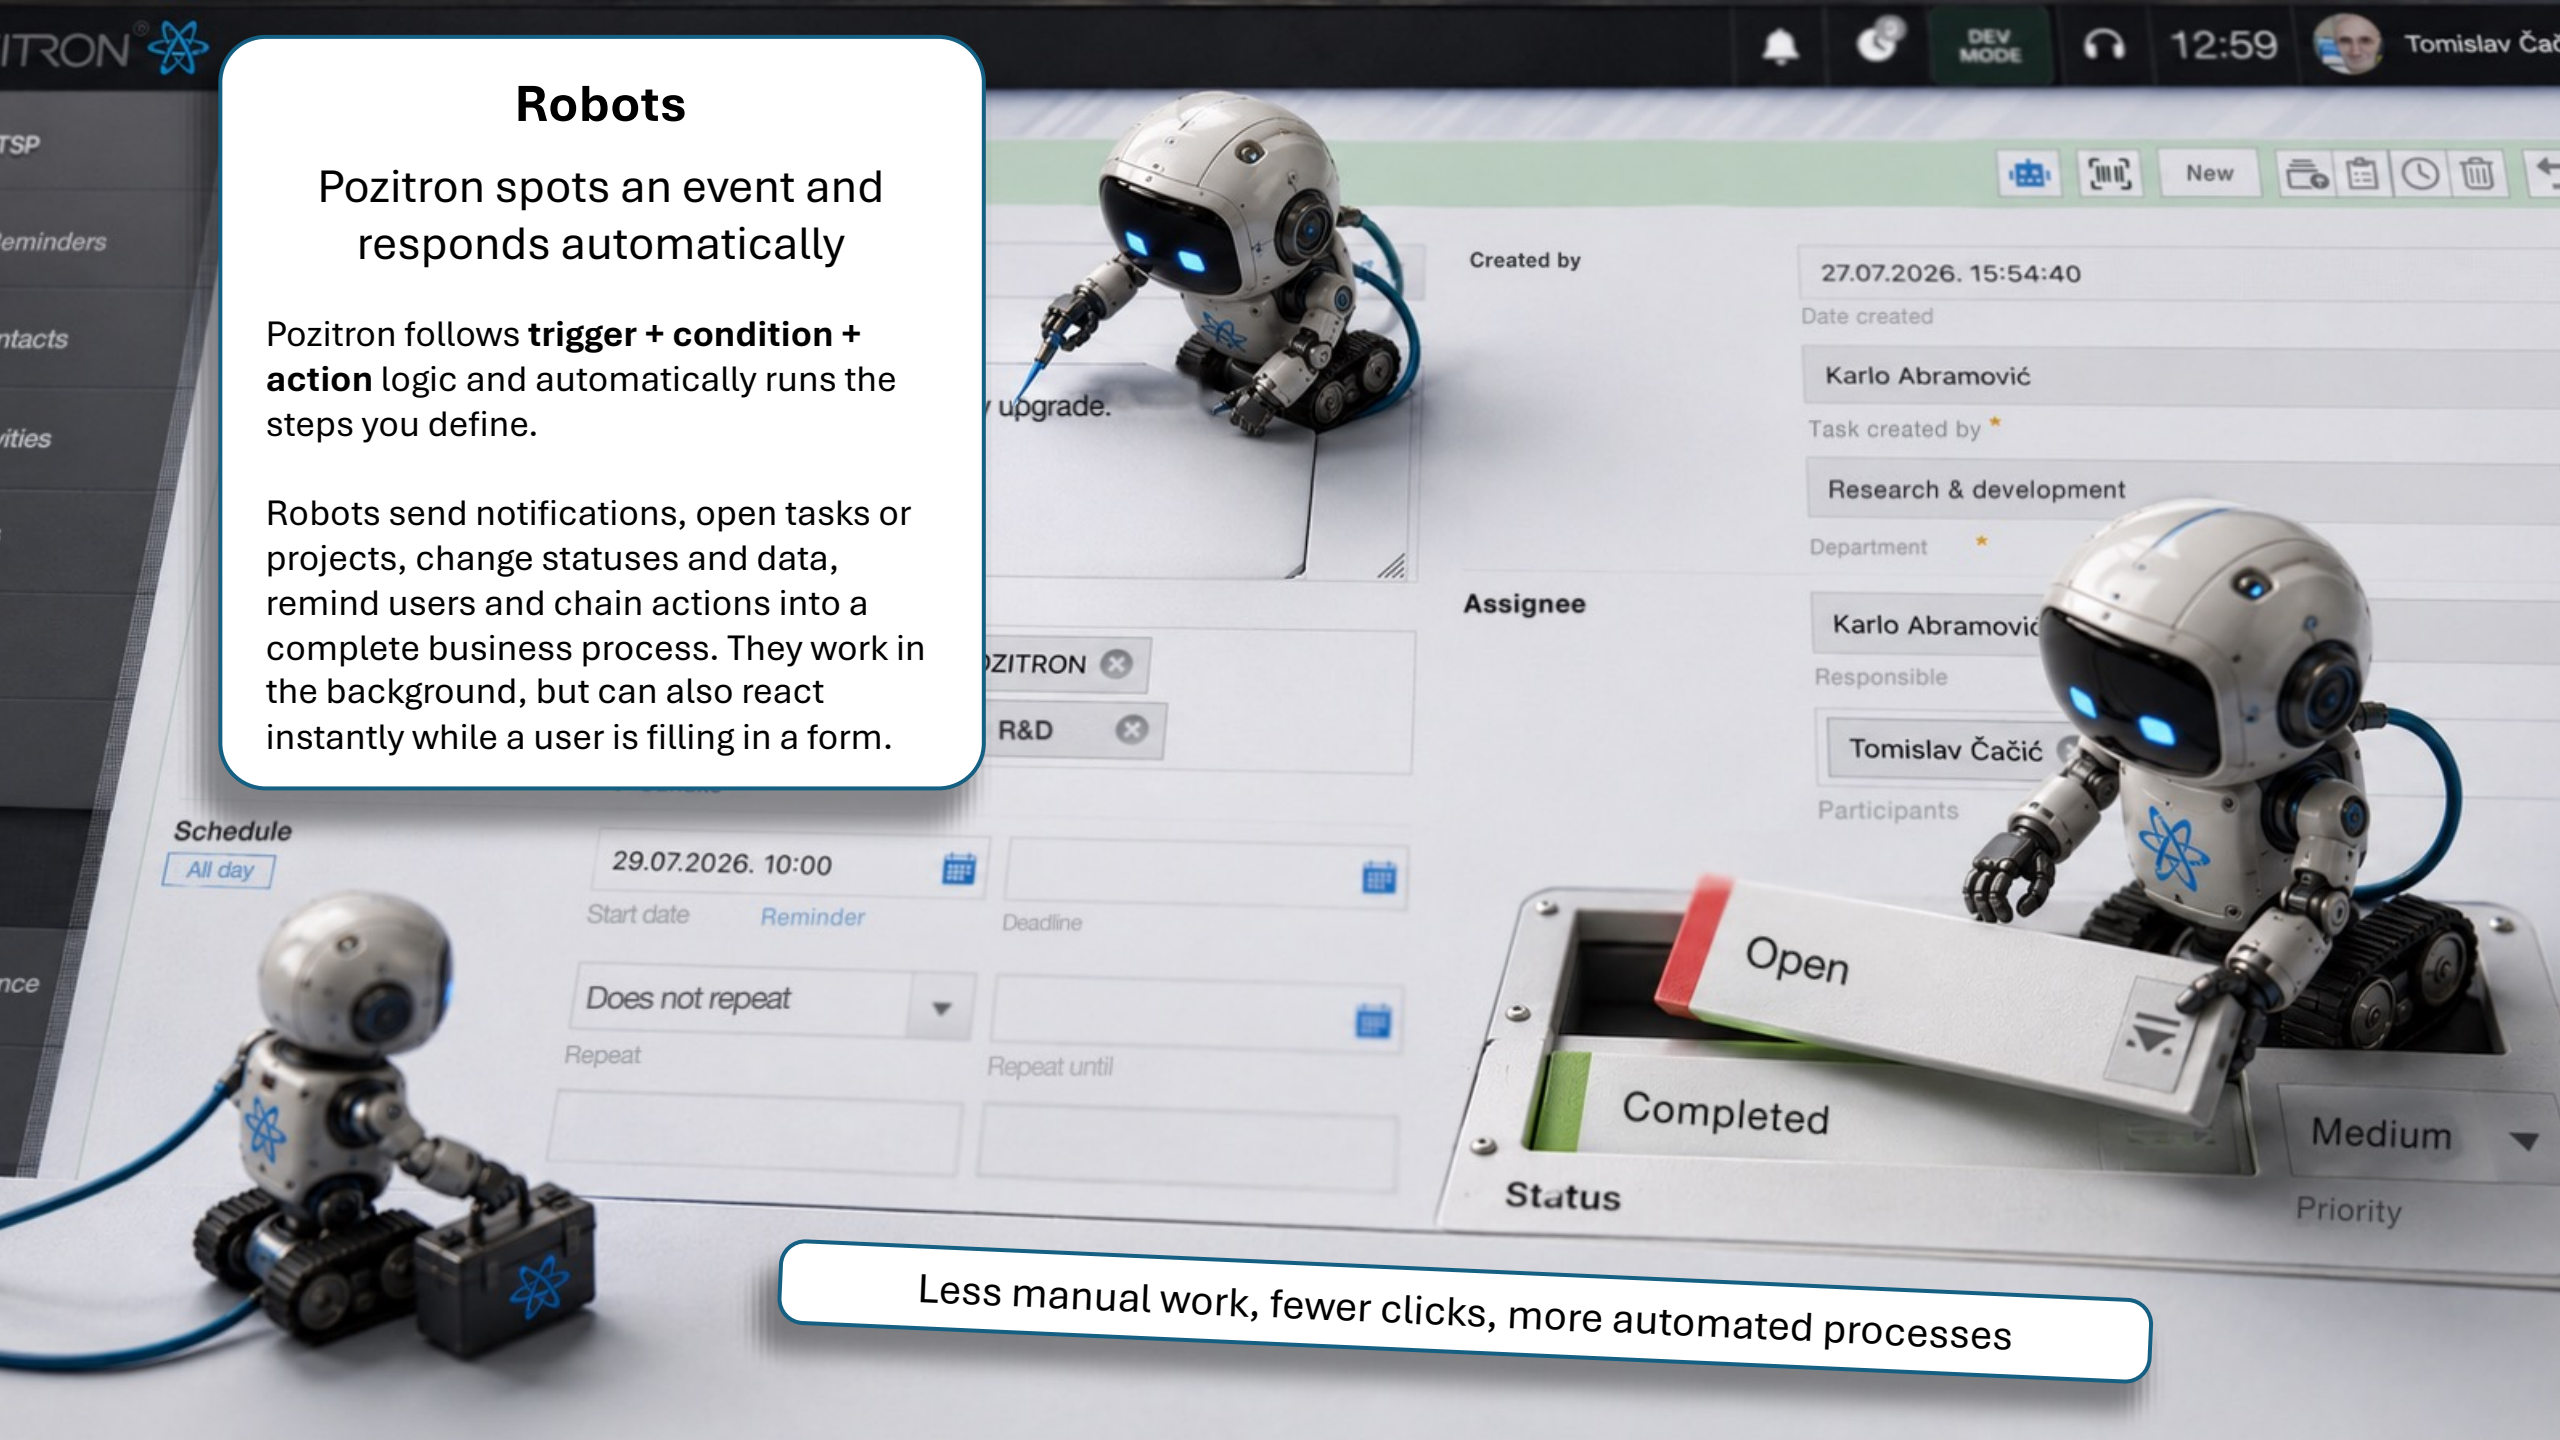

KPIs, charts, deadlines, lists and custom widgets in personal dashboards, where one click on any result opens the records behind it.

Robots

Pozitron spots an event and responds automatically

Pozitron follows trigger + condition + action logic and automatically runs the steps you define.

Robots send notifications, open tasks or projects, change statuses and data, remind users and chain actions into a complete business process. They work in the background, but can also react instantly while a user is filling in a form.

Less manual work, fewer clicks, more automated processes

Pozitron AI

A digital assistant built into the business platform — not a separate tool. AI works where the work happens.

Email support

AI help with writing, summarizing and replying to emails

Document and invoice processing

Automatically recognizes and extracts data

Knowledge search

Find any information in the system

Data analysis

Smart reports and insights from business data

Decision support

Highlight what needs attention right now

Always in context

Knows your clients, tasks and history

Pozitron XRM development concept

Five principles that have guided Pozitron since day one.

Simplicity

Powerful capabilities behind a clear, intuitive interface.

Independence

Runs on various devices without installation, on your server and under your control.

Flexibility

Adapts to your processes, not the other way around.

Integrations

Connects with the systems you already use.

Security

Roles, permissions, GDPR and access control are built in.
